SERVICES SET TO ROLL OUT SPOOKY FUN FOR HALLOWEEN STARTING WEDNESDAY

By Jeff Nicolay
Hickam Kukini editor

The fine work of 15th Security Forces Squadron notwithstanding, Hickam will be invaded by all manner of ghosts, ghouls, goblins and other supernatural beasts — along with assorted princesses, Transformers figures and myriad superheroes — next week as Team Hickam members celebrate Halloween on base.

For John Stanchfield, 15th Services Squadron marketing director, and the rest of the 15 SVS staff, the scariest holiday of the year won't be restricted to Oct. 31.

"We're getting an early start again this year," he said. "Halloween on Hickam will start Wednesday when the Makai Recreation Center's Goblin Trolley will make its annual haunted Halloween housecalls. From 4 to 6 p.m., we'll have Services personnel handing out special treats to those with enough daring to line the route through base housing. And while that's going on, we'll be holding a Halloween costume contest at Makai Recreation Center starting at 5 p.m."

According to Mr. Stanchfield, the contest will be open to three age categories: three categories — walking to 5 years, 6-10 years and 11-15 years — with judging based on three criteria.

"Costumes will be judged on the basis of 'Most Creative,' 'Cutest' and 'Scariest,'" he said. "The winners will be announced on Friday night at the opening of the Hickam Carnival."

Also on Wednesday — and Thursda, as well, Services will open its popular Pumpkin Patch on the Makai Recreation Center tennis courts.

"Come pick out a pumpkin from the Patch," said Mr. Stanchfield, "and prepare to carve the living day-lights out of it as you prepare for the judging, with prizes awarded to the most creatively carved pumpkins. Then, take a few steps and check out the Haunted House. Entry fee is just $3 per person and we've got a lot of surprises for the kids."

On Friday, as the Halloween frenzy builds to its peak and the younger set readies itself for a sugar rush their parents won't soon forget, Services will hold its Halloween Bowl Bash Contest at the Hickam Skate Hangar.

"Registration for this event starts at noon with an entry fee of $5 — and the entry fee for spectators is only $1 — with the competition running from 2 to 10 p.m.," Mr. Stanchfield said. "It'll be a great chance for skateboarders to show their stuff and win some great prizes, too."

Awards will be given away to first, second and third place in each division."

As one might imagine, the next 10 days or so are apt to be busy ones for 15 SVS staff, as Halloween

segues directly to next weekend's Hickam

Carnival. Asked if he's getting enough rest with everything he's got on his plate, Mr. Stanchfield smiles and shakes his head.

"I think we'll all be pretty strung out by the time Halloween rolls around," he said with a chuckle. "Come to think of it, if we all look like zombies, I think we'll fit right in."

Getting all her ducks in a row is only the beginning of the process for Warrior of the Week Staff Sgt. Christina Graham. Until each of those "ducks" is adequately trained and prepared for deployment, Sergeant Graham's job is not done.

More than 2,300 times a year the 118 members of the Wing Staff Agencies are involved in one mobility training event or another. Keeping track of all the training requirements, each individual's training status, and coordinating training opportunities to be sure everyone is up to date on all their deployment requirements are serious business. For Sergeant Graham, "UDM" stands for "UnDiluted Motivation."

"If I allow someone to deploy without sufficient and appropriate training, that puts them and the mission at risk," she said. "I owe it to them and to the Air Force not to let that happen."

That motivation was

"I joined the Air Force right after the attacks occurred on 9/11," she said. "Like everyone says, they can remember everything that took place in their lives on that day and won't ever forget it. One thing I won't ever forget was the urge to want to help a nation whose causes I faithfully believe in.

"I was attending Sullivan University in Louisville KY at the time, I signed up in the delayed enlistment program right after my grandmother passed away and went to BMT nine months later. It was the greatest decision of my life," the sergeant added.

But serving her country has not meant abandoning her previous goals. Through exceptional effort and organization, Sergeant Graham has managed to meet her current obligations and pursue her future objectives simultaneously — and in her spare time she upholds and embodies the Air Force traditions of honor and respect for the fallen.

"Staff Sgt. Graham is an MVP on the Wing Staff Agency team," said Lt. Col. Jason Krinsky, 15 AW Director of Staff and Inspector General. "She helps ensure the WSA is combat ready. In addition she is pursuing a BS degree in management and is an invaluable member of the Honor Guard. Since July, she provided mili-

‘Tyler Perry’s The Family That Preys’ — Charlotte and her dear friend Alice have enjoyed a lasting friendship throughout many years. Suddenly, their lives become mired in turmoil as their adult children’s extramarital affairs, unethical business practices and a dark paternity secret threaten to derail family fortunes and unravel the lives of all involved. Detectives Turk and Rooster are called in to investigate the case that could easily be the biggest one in their 30 years on the force. With the unwitting help of a local drug dealer, the detectives follow what few clues they have. But their search soon turns inward, eventually leading them full circle as it dawns on them that the killer may be one of their own. Starring Robert DeNiro and Al Pacino.

But when Mary’s husband enters into an affair with Crystal — a sultry “spritzer girl” lurking behind the Saks Fifth Avenue perfume counter — all hell breaks loose. Starring Meg Ryan and Eva Mendes.

Rated PG-13 for sex-related material, language, drug use and smoking. Length: 114 min.

"Best of all, she embodies the AF core values and takes on new challenges with a smile."

It has not been a one-way — give, give, give — street for Sergeant Graham, however. She has picked up and honed a few life skills along the way.

"The Air Force has taught me many things I don't think I would've learned so quickly if I hadn't joined," she said. "The Air Force has taught me patience, discipline, leadership skills, and most importantly; it's taught me that no matter what, there will be people who will stick by your side when the rest of the world doesn't. Sometimes Americans can be so naive of the views from the rest of the world.

"One person, in particular, who has truly made an impact on how I view the military and how women serving in it have really helped make it as great as it is today is Ms. Deb Straight, the deputy IG. As a woman serving in the United States Marine Corps, she rose through the ranks to become a Master Gunnery Sergeant. What an inspiration! If she is reading this right now, I would like to tell her 'thank you for all your wisdom.'"

Having recently re-enlisted and been tapped for recruiting duty with the 314th Recruiting Squadron in Mercerville, New Jersey, Sergeant Graham and her husband, Tech. Sgt. Matthew Graham (who also re-enlisted at her side), will soon say good-bye to Hawaii and the once-in-a-lifetime recreational opportunities a Hickam assignment brings.

"We enjoy scuba diving. My husband and I have managed to take advantage of the chance to dive in the waters surrounding each of the major Hawaiian islands. I'm sure there are avid scuba divers all over the world who will never have the chance to do that," she said.

And there is no doubt that if, in her aquatic activities, Sergeant Graham encounters any ducks, she'll get them lined up and prepared to be the best ducks they can be, and we'll all be better off as a result.

Exercise: Standing triceps extension
Muscle: Arms (triceps)

- Start by positioning yourself with both feet about six inches apart, pointed straight and slightly bend hips forward
- Both hands should be shoulder-width apart using a neutral grip along with keeping knees slightly bent for a stable stance
- From start position, extend elbows from chest level down to middle of legs (quads)
- In a controlled manner, flex elbows upward back towards chest level

- Do not move shoulders — all motion comes from the elbows
- Maintain stability and complete steps until you've reached the desired number of reps.
